

Dewey Declares Fourth Term Freedom Threat

Charges Promises of Roosevelt Worthless to Business, Labor; Outlines Eight-Point Peace Program

By United Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, campaigning in his home state, Tuesday night charged that Pres. Roosevelt had made "worthless" promises to American workers and business and asserted that a fourth term would be "the most dangerous threat to our freedom ever proposed."

"We cannot live on promises," Dewey told a crowd estimated at 39,000 in Memorial auditorium. "We must have performance this time—before it's too late." Mr. Roosevelt, he asserted, "has offered no program for the peacetime years ahead except the same

Dewey to Speak

Gov. Dewey is scheduled for another campaign address from Boston Wednesday evening. The governor's speech will be broadcast, starting at 7:30 p. m. (Salt Lake time), over NBC and Mutual networks.

one which failed for eight straight years of peace from 1933 to 1940."

The crowd began chanting "We want a change," when Dewey walked to the speaker's platform. Throughout his speech his frequent use of the phrase, "again, and again, and again," provoked laughter and cheers. It is a phrase used often by Mr. Roosevelt.

The Republican presidential candidate also renewed his criticism of the president for his "abuse" of congress and said that "congress no longer trusts or accepts leadership from my opponent."

"My opponent," Dewey said, "has continually criticized and attempted to purge the members of the house of congress elected by the people. He has so abused and insulted congress that his own senate leader rebelled just this year and denounced the words of a veto message by my opponent as 'more clever than honest,' and as 'a calculated and deliberate assault on the legislative integrity of every member of congress.' That declaration was cheered by the rafters by the senators and the members of the house swarmed into the senate to congratulate the speaker.

Barkley Speech

(Dewey was referring to a speech made in the senate by Sen. Alben W. Barkley, Democratic majority leader, in protest against Mr. Roosevelt's veto of the tax bill.)

"That is what three terms of unlimited power does to a man," Dewey said. "That is why four terms, or 16 years, is the most dangerous threat to our freedom ever proposed. That is one reason why I believe that two terms must be established as the limit by constitutional amendment."

Dewey said that "it is generally (Continued on Page Five)

Dewey Almost Repeats Self

MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM, BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 31 (UP)—Through a misreading of his text, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey Tuesday night almost repeated four of the eight proposals offered by his party.

Midway through his nationwide broadcast the Republican presidential nominee came to proposal number eight and started rereading proposal number four.

"Sorry," he said, quickly catching himself, "repeating number four."

Then he went on to the right place.

FDR Proposes Major Talk For Thursday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—Pres. Roosevelt acknowledged Tuesday that the "One Thousand Club" may have stemmed from a suggestion he once made.

Amid much banter, he told a news conference that he was a member and that he had received a certificate worth maybe half a cent. His implication seemed to be that that was all any individual would receive from membership in the organization which Gov. Thomas E. Dewey asserted was formed to "sell special privilege" to persons contributing $1000 to the fourth term campaign.

Adds Thursday Speech

Before the news conference, the president had added a Thursday night radio speech to his campaign windup and had charted a closing tour through New England, capped by a Saturday address in Boston. "The Thursday night speech will be from the White House and will be broadcast by N B C at 7 p. m. (M. W. T.)."

Mr. Roosevelt chuckled when a reporter brought up the subject of the "One Thousand Club."

Way back in the summer, the president related, he suggested that somebody start a $100,000 club, but people just laughed. Then he suggested a $10,000 club, but they still laughed and said no one would give, so he suggested a
