

America's future is on the line

"The further a society drifts from truth, the more it will hate those that speak it." – George Orwell.

We live in an age where the "truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth" no longer matters.

The "ruling class" has made a determination that all of us common folks are extremely stupid, and therefore, we need them to think for us. The immigration bill which is winding its way through Congress is a prime example. People we thought we could trust are "selling us down the river" as my dad used to say. Marco Rubio, Lindsey Graham, John McCain, Bob Corker, and a host of moderate Senate Republicans are dead set on giving amnesty to illegals. The first un-truth is that 11 million illegal aliens will "come out of the shadows."

The fact is that, if this immigration bill passes as presently constituted, 47 million illegal aliens will be allowed to cross our borders and enter the United States. The simple reason for this number is that illegals presently in this country will be able to bring all of their kinfolks to America.

Not only that, the illegal aliens will be given job preferences and will not be subject to many of the laws that govern the rest of us. Why is such a destructive law even being considered?

The Republican Party must have a death wish. Does it think that the new Americanized Hispanics and others will automatically register as Republicans?

This, of course, will not happen. If Mitt Romney had gotten 70 percent of the Hispanic vote, he would have still lost. He received only 27 percent of this vote, and former Republicans have not done much better.

Democrats have a natural constituency in newly arrived Hispanic voters, and if this law passes and is signed into law, the Republican Party is finished. Not in my lifetime or in the lifetime of my grandchildren will America see another Republican elected President.

With this fact staring them squarely in the face, please tell me why our Republican representatives are hawking a law that will make the Democrat Party the majority party for generations to come? I have no answer other than that the "political elites" are somehow feathering their own nests. "I got mine, and you can get yours the best way you can" seems to be their attitude. Both parties are working in concert to make a very bad piece of legislation happen.

There is an African-American Coalition that is presently opposing this law, and for good reason. Unemployment in the black community is currently 14 percent, and unemployment among young black people, those less than 25, is near 50 percent. With the huge influx of Hispanic laborers competing for jobs, what will happen to African-Americans and their job chances? There is another reason. At the rate the demographics are changing, Hispanics will soon become the largest minority in the country. This, of course, brings political clout. Programs that once served disadvantaged African-Americans will be diverted to the Hispanic community.

More and more Hispanic representatives will be elected to Congress and to the Senate. Competition will increase significantly, and if the 47 million Hispanics are indeed granted citizenship, then you have a complete understanding of why the Afro-American Coalition is opposed to the amnesty bill.

And one other fact. Medicare already has an unfunded liability of $43 trillion dollars. The added strain on this program will cause the system to go bankrupt. This will cause other programs such as Obamacare and Medicaid to collapse along with every social program sponsored by the federal government.

Pat Buchanan, a news analyst and former presidential candidate, has stated that if the immigration bill passes, then there is a real possibility that this country will break up. Igor Panarin, the Russian sociologist, wrote in 1990 that the United States will break into six distinct states, and the government we have known for over 200 years will be no more. Liberalism and the Democrat Party have brought us to the brink of ruin. What is worse, moderate Republicans are helping. The name that immediately comes to mind is Jeb Bush.

Unless a leader who is interested in the American people and their welfare emerges soon, we may be finished as a nation. I hope that Pat Buchanan is wrong, but the fact is that he may very well be a prophet.
